Barnardos provides a specialist therapeutic service to adopted children and teenagers who were born abroad or in Ireland and to their parents, including children adopted from foster care.

The service is available nationally and can be contacted through three Post Adoption centres in Dublin, Cork and Galway.

Barnardos Post Adoption service is funded by TUSLA the Child and Family Agency, through donations from clients, and training income.

Barnardos has provided a service to adopted people and to birth and adoptive families since 1977.

Testimonials

“ My seven year old was adopted when he was two – the expert support from Barnardos was invaluable ”

– An adoptive parent

“ It was great to talk to other teenagers about my feelings about my birth mother – Barnardos made the group fun too! ”

– An adopted 15 year old

“ Sometimes children in school ask me questions about being adopted. Barnardos is helping me learn how to answer them ”

– An adopted 8 year old
